

Partnering in Health Research as a Person with Living/Lived Experience

MAR 12

9:00 am - 10:30 am
Online event

Interested in learning how you can be involved in the health research process beyond participating as a subject?

Join us for an introduction to the local health research landscape and the practice of Patient-Oriented Research (POR) that recognizes the importance of including living/lived experience throughout the research process. Hear from patients or family members who have partnered in research and ask questions about their journey.

Embarking on Patient-Oriented Research (POR)

- ▶ Attain a broad understanding of health research
- ▶ Explore the significance of POR
- ▶ Listen to examples and pose questions about partnering in health research
- ▶ Access resources to learn more and kickstart your own journey in POR
